GEN. DUDLEY DECLINED IT

Union Republican Club Wanted Him for District Delegate.

Organization Promises to Be an Important Factor When the Local

The true inwardness of the efforts to capture the delegates to the National Republican Convention by the politicians here is developing itself daily.

Until the formation of the Union Republican Club there was little doubt as to who would be the delegates from the District to the convention, but now comes along a disturbing element in the form of a club of gigantic and influential proportions, the Union Republican Club.

From the time of the organization of the club there was one object in view, and that was to control political affairs in he District and secure the appointment of men to positions of honor emolument here. When the club's executive committee was formed the effort was made to constitute its mem bership of men competent to judge of the qualifications of candidates for positions qualifications of candidates for positions and the selection of acceptable delegates the National Convention

Several names were presented for nomination as delegates, among the number being Gen W. W. Dudley. When the sub-ject was broached to him he declined to ow the use of his name, on the ground that if he went to the convention and voted against the renomination of ex-President Marrison he would antagonize his old friends afford to do. Other gentlemen equally ent in politics were named, but they also declined, some on the ground that the question of delegates belonged exclusively to local Republicans, and others that they were residents of the States and were incl igible.

Thus far but one person has consented to sllow the use of his name as a candidate, and It is thought that before the time comes for delegates this gentleman will step saide and the District people will man-age the political affairs of Washington.

CITY'S SHADE IN PERIL

Beetles and Caterpillars Robbing Washington of Its Glory.

CITIZENS WILL TAKE STEPS

If the District Does Not Private Purses May Be Opened to Pro tect Them-What Well-Known Men Have to Say-New England Cities a Warning to Us.

Public interest in the peril to the city's beautiful shade-kas been generally aroused by the publication in to-day's Morning

Dead branches, gaunt and naked among the trees, is a common sight in every sec tion of the city. Where the elm beetle has not visited the caterpillars are at work and the danger seems to be daily increas

Citizens generally feel provoked at the condition of affairs regarding the neglect in the protection of the trees. This feeling has gone so far that some of them insist that if the District government can not provide means for protection, then the matter will have to be taken in hand

Capt. Austin, of the Metropolitan po lice, says he has heard much complaint regarding the havor on the trees by in sects, and knows of many who have improvised methods of preventing the total estruction of their trees.

CASE FOR THE PEOPLE. Mr. H. O. Towles is very emphatic as to the better protection of the trees, which constitute so much of the beauty of Wash ington, and says if the District authorities cannot protect them, then the people will have to provide a remedy.

If the parking commission has not suffi-cient means to rid the parks and streets of the pests, then the citizens will take the matter in hand themselves.

Mr. Walter Williams concurs in Mr. Towles' views, and adds that this condi-tion of affairs has continued so long that many of the beautiful trees which adorned the side walks have been destroyed, and in some instances the spaces left by their re-moval have never been filled.

Mr. L. O. Howard, the entymologist of a Times reporter to-day and questioned in to-day's Morning Times, has laid low the White House shade trees.

HABITS OF THE BEETLE. L. O. Howard, entymologist of the Agricultural Department, was seen by a Times reporter to-day, and asked regarding the habits of the beetle.

"The clini-leaf beetle," he said, "is a well-known depredator in the old world, particularly in South Germany, Austria and France. It was imported into this country in 1837, and its earliest attacks were particularly severe about Baltimor and in New Jersey. It's spread in this country has been comparatively slow and, while wherever it has appeared it has established itself very firmly and now frequently occurs in enormous numbers, it is ted in its range, so far as the records go, to the Middle Atlantic seaboard. "The larvae from each batch of eggs feed together somewhat gregariously for a time, but ordinarily become separated and scattered later, especially with a scantiness of food. When full grown they normally crawl down the branches to the trunk and then to the ground, pupating surface of the roil, just about the bare of the tree. They are apt to seek partial protection about grass bunches, but fre-quently accumulate in masses, exposed on the surface in such a manner as to make a striking yellow carpet about the wide. With very large elms, however, many of the larvae are shaken off by winds of fall directly to the ground, sometimes fairly covering the surface over a diameter equal to the limb-expanse of the tree.'

TOO LATE TO STOP IT. With regard to the shade trees along the streets which come under the jurisdiction of the parking commission, Mr. Howard said that if the commission had sufficient third week in May, when the beetles of greater part of the damage could be preventone or two sprayings with a solution of parls green or arsenate of lead.

When, however, the early spraying has been neglected a great deal can be accomdished by sending a few men around later in June, when the larvae of the bestlesarede scending the trunks of the trees to trans form to puppe at the surface of the ground when they really can be killed with a paver's when they really can be killed with a pavar's rammer, or by sweeping them up and herning them or sprinkling them with a strong emulsion of kerosene and soapsuda.

On the paved streets them is a surface of only a few squarefeet of earthleft exposed about the base of each tree, and in this small space nearly all of the larvae pupae collect at this time. Of course this is after the work of the first brood has been accomplished, and the precautious must be taken to prevent the issuing of beetles, which will lay eggs for the second brood.

PAVAGES IN NEW ENGLAND.

RAVAGES IN NEW ENGLAND. Mr. Howard has just returned from New England, where he has been investigating the damage done by the same insect in the Connecticut River valley. The clus in the cities of Bridgeport, Norwalk, New Haven and Hartford are in frightful condition, infultiely worse, he says, than they are here and in Baltimore.

Along beautiful Washington street, in Hartford, for example, hardly a leaf was to be seen the last of July, and the insect is spreading up the valley and has been noticed for the first time this year in

At Holyoke, Amherst and Northampto he property owners are greatly interested and strong efforts are being nade by the city authorities in New Haven and Springfield to destroy the pests.

Mr. W. R. Smith, superintendent of the Botanical Gardens, says the cause is neglect in properly trimming the trees. If atten-tion, he asserts, had been given the trees the present difficulties would have been avoided. Here, be says, the insects attack the soft leaf trees, sycamore, Carolina and Athenian poplars.

In his opinion, the trees should be caged, as they do not now have proper

MARTIN IRONS' LIBEL SUIT.

Trick of a Newspaper to Prevent Legal Service.

St. Louis, Aug. 9 .- For many months Martin Irons, the leader of the strike on the Southwestern system of the Gould rallways of ten years ago, now a citizen of Fort Worth, Tex., had his official papers prepared citing the St. Louis Republic to answer a charge of libel and claiming damages of $10,000.

The libel was printed in September last. It drew a parallel between the cases of Irons and Debs, and asserted that the latter must inevitably end bis career as a leader as Irons east from society, the keeper of a disreputable resort in Fort Worth, frequented by social leper.
In order to bring the action for libel to Texas for trial, it was necessary to secure the legal service of the papers on a representative of the Republic within the State. Five weeks ago the Republic chartered a train and fitted it for advertising purposes through Texas.

To avoid service of papers in the Irons suit every man connected with the Republic Texas expedition was discharged, and they were sent as a Republic "excursion," Application was made by Irons to the Fort Worth court yesterday to compel the at-tendance of the managers of the "excur-sion." The matter is still in abeyance.

THE TIMES DAILY WEATHER MAP. (Prepared at the United States Weather Bureau.)

(Prepared at the United States Weather Bureau.)

Explanatory Note: The above map shows the weather conditions prevailing over the country at 8 o'clock this morning, Eastern time. Solid lines are isobars or lines of equal air pressure, drawn for each tenth of an inch. Dotted lines are isotherms, or lines of equal temperature, drawn for each ten degrees. Shaded areas are regions where rain or snow has fallen during the preceding twelve hours. The words "high" and "low" show location of areas of high and low-barometer. The symbols at the stations show the state of the weather and direction of the wind. Small arrows fly with the wind.

The map to-day shows a very interesting condition in the weather. Temperatures down to 40 degrees in Moutans, owing to a hight area that has moved to that State from the Pacific Coast, and high temperatures in the East, also owing largely to a high area which has moved west from the Atlantic. It is easy to account for their apparent contradictions, or almost oppo site effects from the same causes. The clear skies in the West have caused intense radiation of heat from the earth, and the moving air itself is cooled up to great heights. On the other hand, in the East the stagnant air has not been mixed in a vertical direction, but the sun has heated it to an enormous height, and in conse-quence the effects at the earth are much greater. There is no prospect of a change in these conditions in the Middle and South Atlantic States before Tuesday, and we may expect 90 degrees or above each day

Warrant Sworn Out For the Grand

Mogul of New Alexandria. A warrant was sworn out in the police court yesterday, afternoon by a colored man named Francis Hall, charging Lother W. Speare with obtaining money by false pretenses. The amount involved in the case is $100.

About six months ago, Hall claims, he surchased two lots in New Alexandria, laid out on the marshes of the Potoma below Alexandria, from Speare, the presi lent of the New Alexandria Improven Company, and the terms of the contract were that Speare should build a house of one of the lots. He was to receive $200 es soon as the cellar was dug and $100 when the house was ready for the plasterer o go to work. The cellar was dug and Then Speare went on slowly with the construction, and a few weeks ago he called on Hall and represented that the house was ready for the plasterer, ac payment of the remaining $100.

Hall accepted his statement and paid the money. A short time afterward, however, he took a trip to the phantom town and was very much surprised to see the house he had fordly hoped to behold almost ready for occupancy, without any roof, the cellar full of water, and a generally famp and gloomy air hovering over it.
